

Man I Became

Looking now at the man I became, without Your love I see a destiny change After feeling You I could never live another way
It seems I didn't even know Your name when You were loving me right showing mercy just the same
Of what is good in my life I have nothing to claim

You have changed me You have made me, brought me to this place Reconciled me and allowed me a chance to touch Your face So if I chose to boast what would I talk about
But the power of Jesus In my life

You've been faithful while I've been turning my eyes to whatever my flesh is yearning for But You always seem to turn me back Your way I may not always show it to You but I'm telling You now I'm so thankful for Your Undying dedication to Your child

Written by Corey Nolen Copyright Corey Nolen

www.etherealband.com